From Saturday November 8, to Tuesday November 11, 1783.

Westminster, November 11, 1783.

THIS Day His Majesty came to the House of Peers, and being in His Royal Robes, seated on the Throne with the usual Solemnity, Sir Francis Molyneux, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, was sent with a Message from His Majesty to the House of Commons, commanding their Attendance in the House of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Majesty was pleased to make the following most Gracious Speech:

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IHAVE the Satisfaction to inform you, that Definitive Treaties of Peace have been concluded with the Courts of France and Spain, and with the United States of America. Preliminary Articles have been also ratified with the States General of the United Provinces. I have ordered these several Treaties to be laid before you; and am happy to add, that I have no Cause to doubt but that all those Powers agree with me in My sincere Inclination to keep the Calamities of War at a great Distance.

The Objects which are to be brought under your Deliberation will sufficiently explain my Reasons for calling you together after so short a Recess. Enquiries of the utmost Importance have been long and diligently pursued, and the Fruit of them will be expected. The Situation of the East India Company will require the utmost Exertions of your Wisdom, to maintain and improve the valuable Advantages derived from Our Indian Possessions, and to promote and secure the Happiness of the Native Inhabitants of those Provinces.

The Season of Peace will call upon you for an Attention to every Thing which can recruit the Strength of the Nation, after so long and so expensive a War. The Security and Increase of the Revenue, in the Manner least burthensome to My Subjects, will be amongst your first Objects. In many essential Parts it has suffered; dangerous Frauds have prevailed; and alarming Outrages have been committed. Exertions have not been wanting to repress this daring Spirit, nor Pains to enquire into its true Causes. In any Instances in which the Powers of Government may not be equal to its utmost Care and Vigilance, I have no Doubt that the Wisdom of My Parliament will provide such Remedies as may be found wanting for the Accomplishment of Purposes in which the material Interests of this Nation are so deeply concerned.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have ordered the Estimates of the Expences for the Year to be laid before you. From those you will perceive the Reduction which I have made in all the Establishments, which appear to Me to be brought as low as Prudence will admit: And you will participate with me in the Satisfaction which I feel in this Step towards the Relief of My Subjects.

At the End of a War some Part of its Weight must inevitably be borne for a Time. I feel for the Burthens of My People: But I rely on that Fortitude, which has hitherto supported this Nation under many Difficulties, for their bearing those which the present Exigencies require; and which are so necessary for the full Support of National Credit.

[Price Three-Pence Halfpenny.]

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

In many Respects our Situation is new; your Counsels will provide what is called for by that Situation, and your Wisdom will give Permanence to whatever has been found beneficial by the Experience of Ages. In your Deliberations you will serve that Temper of Moderation which the Importance of their Objects demands, and which I have no Doubt, produce; and I am sure that you are unanimous in your Desire to direct all your Deliberations to the Honor of My Crown, the Safety of My Dominions, and the Prosperity of My People.
